INTRODUCTION

This bibliography lists reports arising from studies in Australia dealing with laterite, silcrete, and related materials.

It is intended to serve primarily as a guide to those works which have contributed to the knowledge of laterite, silcrete, and related materials here in Australia and therefore, while extensive, is in no way meant to comprise a complete listing of every work which has ever employed the terms.

A short list of unpublished reports whose distribution was limited is included, drawing primarily on detailed research, most of which has been summarized in subsequent publications.
