

Remuneration disclosure for executive and other highly paid staff

Annual disclosure

2017-18

Preface

Geoscience Australia is committed to provide transparency of our remuneration for executive and other highly paid officials.

Geoscience Australia (together with other Australian Public Service entities) decided to disclose the remuneration of our executives and other highly paid staff from the 2016-17 reporting period.

For the purposes of this publication, executives are defined as:

- a) substantive Senior Executive Service (SES) employees

For the purposes of this publication, other highly paid staff are defined as employees, other than executives as defined above:

- a) where the sum of their reportable remuneration was $200,001 or more for the reporting period, and
- b) who were not deployed outside Australia during the reporting period.

How is remuneration determined?

The Secretary of the Department of Industry, Innovation and Science determines remuneration and conditions for the Geoscience Australia Chief Executive Officer (CEO) having regard to the APS Executive Remuneration Management Policy and the Government's Workplace Relations Bargaining Policy 2015. The CEO determines remuneration and conditions for Geoscience Australia SES employees in the same manner. To maintain relativity with other APS entities, remuneration for SES is aligned with the annual remuneration survey conducted by the Australian Public Service Commission.

Remuneration arrangements for other highly paid employees are set in the Geoscience Australia Enterprise Agreement 2016-2019.

Disclosure

Table A (executives) and Table B (other highly paid officials) discloses the 2017-18 reportable remuneration at an aggregate level, within average dollar ranges showing the number of individuals within each range.

Table A and Table B: Key requirements/definitions

The 'reportable salary' column is prepared on a cash basis using reportable salary as defined as the sum of:

- a) gross payments (excluding bonuses);
- b) reportable fringe benefits (net amount);
- c) reportable employer superannuation contributions; and
- d) exempt foreign employment income;

as reported in an individual's payment summary.

The 'contributed superannuation' column is prepared on a cash basis using contributed superannuation as defined as follows:

- For individuals that are in a defined contribution scheme (e.g., PSSap), "Contributed superannuation" is the defined contribution amounts; or
- For individuals that are in a defined benefit scheme (e.g., PSS and CSS), 'contributed superannuation' includes the Notional Employer Contribution Rate (NECR) amount, Employer Productivity Superannuation Contribution (also known as the Productivity Component) and any Additional Lump Sum Contribution paid during the reporting period.

The 'reportable allowances' column is prepared on a cash basis using reportable allowances as is equal to the 'total allowances' figure as reported in an individual's payment summary. Reportable allowances excludes any allowances already reported in the gross payments line in the payment summary.

The 'bonus paid' column is prepared on a cash basis-using bonus paid as is equal to the actual bonus paid to individuals during the reporting period and is a component of gross payments reported on the payment summary.
